

Laura Murray has a Bachelor of Fine Arts with a specialty in graphic design and after working more than 15 years in the corporate design world, Laura decided to start her own design and illustration business. Today she specializes in logo design, custom portrait illustrations, branding, project management, collateral design, and interactive forms, and illustrations for businesses of all sizes, ultimately improving their bottom line by crafting creative solutions to their business problems.

Laura has worked with organizations large and small, including Char-Broil, Blakeley State Park, the Lee County Master Gardeners Association, LegalShield, the Alabama Historical Association and Auburn University, to name a few.

The third book of Laura's Amazing States Series of coloring books, Amazing South Carolina, was released in May 2020 and her fourth book, Our Patriots, in partnership with the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution was released in August of 2021.
